DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-6, 8-13 and 15-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Frankovitch, Jr. et al.

Referring to claims 1, 8 and 15, Frankovitch, Jr. et al. discloses an oscilloscope adapter for a portable stand-alone electronic device, comprising: a removable module (fig. 1 (10)) adapted to interface with a hardware interface port of a portable stand-alone electronic device having a processor and a display (column 26, lines 23-33), the module including a computer program memory, the memory storing computer program instructions thereon to direct the processor to perform the steps of: collecting data representative of a signal from an external source; and displaying the data on the display as a waveform comprising individual data values as a function of time on a graph having a vertical axis and a horizontal axis, each axis having a scale (column 7, line 58 – column 8, line 14 and column 26, line 26). It should be noted that the portable stand-alone electronic device is a personal computer and the hardware interface is through a serial interface (column 26, lines 23-25).

Referring to claims 2, 9, 16 and 17, Frankovitch, Jr. et al. discloses the adapter as claimed wherein the adapter further includes a database of model waveforms (column 7, line 58 – column 8, line 14), and the instructions further direct the processor to display a model waveform from the database on the display (column 26, lines 23-58).

Referring to claims 3, 10, 18 and 19, Frankovitch, Jr. et al. discloses the adapter as claimed wherein the adapter further includes a database of collected waveform data (column 18, line 65 – column 19, line 7), and the instructions further direct the processor to store the data representative of the signal in the database of collected waveform data (column 26, lines 23-58).

Referring to claims 4 and 11, Frankovitch, Jr. et al. discloses the adapter as claimed wherein the adapter or the portable stand-alone electronic device contains a buffer, and the instructions further direct the processor to store the data representative of the signal in the buffer (column 26, lines 23-58).

Referring to claims 5 and 12, Frankovitch, Jr. et al. discloses the adapter as claimed wherein the instructions further direct the processor to provide an electronic device input that, when activated by a user, allows the user to adjust the scale of one or both of the vertical axis and the horizontal axis (column 6, line 44 – column 7, line 5 and column 26, lines 29-30).

Referring to claims 6 and 13, Frankovitch, Jr. et al. discloses the adapter as claimed wherein the electronic device input that allows the user to adjust one or both scales is displayed on a setup screen (column 16, lines 56-62 and column 26, lines 29-30).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 7 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Frankovitch, Jr. et al. in view of Alexander et al.

Referring to claims 7 and 14, Frankovitch, Jr. et al. discloses the adapter as claimed except wherein the adapter further includes a language database containing data representative of words in a plurality of languages and the method comprises the additional steps of translating text and displaying the translated text on the display.

Alexander et al. discloses a system wherein the display means includes a language database containing data representative of words in a plurality of languages (column 59, lines 54-56).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of the invention to incorporate the plurality of languages of Alexander et al. into the device of Frankovitch, Jr. et al. for the purpose of making the device useful in all parts of the world whereby increasing the industrial applicability of the device.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed August 15, 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

6. In response to Applicants arguments with respect to claims 1, 8 and 15, that Frankovitch, Jr. et al. fails to disclose a removable module adapted to interface with a hardware port of the portable stand-alone device, it should be noted that, as stated in the claim rejections above, the measuring device of Frankovitch, Jr. et al. is the removable module, the portable stand-alone electronic device is a personal computer and the hardware interface is through a serial interface.

Final Rejection

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
